

Dear Community of SASCRO

The OSCE/oral exams were hosted by Prof Jeannette Parkes and her team at the University of Cape Town this October. We thank them and congratulate the 10 new graduates. Further details are on the SASCRO website: <http://www.sascro.co.za/congratulations.html>

Our Council meeting was also held during this period and we agreed on the following items:

1. We would like to invite colleagues from the private sector who invest time through sessions or support to the academic facilities to become part of the examiners group. This will include colleagues with more than 4 years of experience post qualification. Such colleagues would need to attend one of our annual OSCE workshops so as to understand the examining processes. We thank the private colleagues already involved who help to strengthen our training platform.
2. We would also like to call upon all SASCRO members to consider becoming fully paid up members of the College of Radiation Oncology. These finances support our FCRadOnc training program by funding training programs and examiners workshops. This strengthens and sustains the infrastructure and skills of our specialist training staff and ensures excellence in our emerging Rad Onc specialists.
3. We would like to call upon all lapsed members of the College of radiation Oncology to consider becoming paid up for all the reasons outlined above.

Kind regards.
